

The Progress Continues

1994-95 Annual Report

Lebanon Valley College of Pennsylvania

Four Years of Progress

The idea of progress, so ingrained in the American character, is alive and well at Lebanon Valley College. Consider the progress achieved in the past four years.

Enrollment: Full-time enrollment has risen by 43 percent to an all-time high of 1,163 students. The quality of our entering freshmen has risen as well: Three-fourths of them now graduate in the top third of their high school class, more than half graduate in the top fifth, and one-third rank in the top tenth. Part-time enrollment is also at a record high, with 721 students enrolled at our continuing education centers in Annville, Lancaster and Mechanicsburg.

Looking ahead, we see a period of much slower growth, with full-time enrollment reaching about 1,200 by the end of the century.

Finances: Increased enrollments have had a significant and positive impact on the college's finances. A larger student population has resulted in greater efficiencies in the use of facilities and personnel. Since 1991, revenues have increased 56.8 percent while expenditures have been held to 50.8 percent. It is worth noting that the resulting increases in operating margins were achieved while providing substantial gains in faculty and staff compensation. In addition, these larger year-end surpluses have enabled the college to address much of the deferred maintenance that had accumulated.

In the past four years endowment and similar funds rose 28.5 percent, to $16.7 million.

Affordability: Maintaining affordability is an imperative for a small, private college. Happily, recent increases in enrollments have enabled the trustees to hold tuition, fees and room and board increases to an average of 3.4 percent over the past two years, a rate of increase that is among the lowest in Pennsylvania. Currently, 95 percent of Lebanon Valley students receive various forms of financial aid; the college awarded a total of $14.5 million in aid on the basis of high school achievement and/or upon demonstrated need.

Merit Scholarships

Lebanon Valley has continued to attract attention for its merit-based scholarships, which recognize academically talented high school seniors by offering them sizable discounts on tuition. Since 1992, when the college incorporated the scholarship program, media throughout the country, including the Washington Post, ABC Radio in New York, the Associated Press and most recently, the Los Angeles Times, have commented on the program's success.

These merit-based scholarships are awarded at three levels:

The Vickroy Scholarship: All high school seniors who rank in the top 10 percent of their class receive a one-half tuition scholarship.

The Leadership Award: All high school seniors who rank in the top 20 percent of their class receive a one-third tuition scholarship.

The Achievement Award: All high school seniors who rank in the top 30 percent of their class receive a one-fourth tuition scholarship.

The scholarships are renewable over four years. So far, over 870 students have taken advantage of the program. Over 400 of them were Vickroy Scholars. Those who need additional funds or who do not qualify can apply for the college's many need-based awards.

Facilities: An aggressive program of facility renewal is transforming the campus. Residential capacity was increased by nearly 200 by the addition of the Derickson Hall Apartments, the conversion of six college-owned houses and the renovation of several existing residence halls. Our new arts facilities include the Suzanne H. Arnold Art Gallery, the Zimmerman Recital Hall and the Leedy Theater. Kreiderheim, former residence of the college's presidents, is now a lovely guest house and small conference center.

Other projects undertaken during the past four years include new tennis courts, additional parking, new campus entrances and improved lighting, as well as elevators and other modifications to enhance access for those with physical disabilities. And soon we will open and dedicate the Vernon and Doris Bishop Library, a state-of-the-art facility now nearing completion.

Technology: The new Bishop Library will be the capstone of several years' worth of effort to create an information-intensive campus. All academic buildings and several residence halls are now connected by fiber optic cable. All faculty and nearly all administrative and office staff have personal computers. Students have access to computers in centers throughout the campus. Faculty, students and staff have access to the Internet, and thus to data bases and information from all over the world.

Soon the college will have its first classroom with interactive video, a technology that utilizes digitized and compressed video, voice and data signals sent across telephone lines. This new technology will permit the sharing of courses with other similarly equipped colleges and universities throughout the world.

International Initiatives: Clearly the world is a much smaller place as a result of linkages afforded by the new information technologies. It is not surprising that more and more of our students are interested in opportunities to study abroad. Four years ago we had but two students overseas, both in a single program in Cologne, Germany. Now there are 28 students in eight specially designed international programs. There has been a similar increase, from seven to 26, in the number of students from other countries coming to Lebanon Valley. We expect both the number of our students going abroad and the number of those coming here from other countries to peak at around 60 within a few years.

A Site on the Web

After several months of behind-the-scenes tests and prototypes, the official Lebanon Valley College home page is available on the World Wide Web (WWW), a storehouse of information accessible through the Internet. Our home page contains basic background information on the college, and on admission, financial aid and several academic and administrative departments. Prospective students can even use the home page to apply electronically to Lebanon Valley. The store of information is growing daily, and many more pages are currently under construction.

The home page is accessible from both on- and off-campus, and can be reached through World Wide Web browsers such as Lynx and Netscape by typing in the URL: <http://www.lvc.edu/>

Lebanon Valley has also developed a faculty exchange program with Nanjing University in China. This past year brought Professor Wu Yingen to our campus to team-teach courses on Chinese literature, history and politics. Professor of Political Science Eugene Brown will be spending the coming year in Nanjing.

Cultural Events: The college celebrated its new arts facilities by sponsoring a variety of cultural events that included lectures, symposia, concerts, art exhibits, films, theater and dance. Music and art students and faculty joined outstanding artists from all over the world in presenting truly memorable performances.

Media Magic

Over the past four years, Lebanon Valley has received nationwide recognition for its quality academic programs, its accomplishments in sports and its distinctive cultural programs. Here is a sampling of that coverage:

- Lebanon Valley was named best regional value in The Guide for Students and Parents to 101 of the Best Values in America's Colleges and Universities, a 456-page guide published by the Center for Studies in College Enrollment and Tuition Issues.
- The college was ranked by U.S. News and World Report as one of the top 10 regional liberal arts colleges in the North and was included in The Ultimate College Shoppers Guide, a guide to the 10 top liberal arts colleges in terms of chemical research productivity.
- Most recently, the college was listed in Peterson's Guides' Top Colleges for Science—Leading Programs in the Biological, Chemical, Geological, Mathematical and Physical Sciences, as one of 200 colleges and universities in the United States that offer an outstanding undergraduate program in the sciences and mathematics.
- This past fall, Lebanon Valley students were featured on the cover of a special financial aid supplement of USA Today. The students discussed how they were able to work with Lebanon Valley's financial aid program to afford a quality education.
- The 1993 reunion of "The Seven Dwarfs," the college's legendary 1952-53 basketball team, caught the interest of ABC and ESPN Sports and the New York Times. When the 1993-94 Dutchmen basketball team brought home the NCAA Division III trophy, Sports Illustrated and the New York Times commented on the victory. In addition, Sports Illustrated also printed a full-page color feature on All-American point guard Mike Rhoades '95. On a sadder note, the college mourned the loss of "Hot Dog" Frank Aftosomes; radio commentator Paul Harvey honored the long-time friend of the college with a moving tribute on radio programs and in newspapers nationwide.
- The college celebrated its entrance into the Guinness Book of World Records with the creation of the "Amazing Maize Maze," a 126,000-square-foot maze cut into a cornfield adjacent to campus. The maze raised over $32,000 for Midwest flood relief and attracted thousands of visitors, among them a crew from ABC's "Good Morning America," reporters from USA Today, the Associated Press and United Press International (which led to articles in over 100 papers nationwide). The event was also mentioned on the national news on CNN, NBC and CBS. Word even spread as far as the Fukutake Publishing Company in Tokyo, which used a map of the maze in one of its children's magazines.
- "China 2000," a semester-long colloquium held in the spring of 1995, immersed the college and community in Chinese politics, economics, education, art, music, film and martial arts. It also attracted the attention of two diplomats from the Chinese Consulate in New York, as well as the director of Xinhua News Agency in New York.

The College Relations Office is always interested in receiving news about Lebanon Valley. If you see the college mentioned in a newspaper or magazine in your area and would like to send a clip, you can address it to: Office of College Relations, 101 North College Avenue, Annville, PA 17003.

Athletics: More than 40 percent of Lebanon Valley students participate in at least one intercollegiate sport during their four years. Graduating seniors will recall many exciting basketball seasons, including ones that resulted in NCAA Division III, Commonwealth League and Middle Atlantic Conference Championships. They thrilled to performances by All-American Mike Rhoades '95, who scored a record-breaking 2,050 points in his career at the Valley. During the same period, our field hockey teams collected two MAC Championships and received three invitations to NCAA Tournaments. Joda Glossner '95 was named to the Academic All-American Field Hockey Team and received a coveted NCAA Post-graduate Scholarship. This year's graduating class also included Jennifer Nauss, who won a gold medal in the MAC Track and Field Championships, and Howie Spangler, who won three gold medals in the MAC Swimming Championships.

Strategic Planning: In today's volatile environment, no college or university can afford to take success for granted. In that spirit, Lebanon Valley recently engaged in and completed a new round of strategic planning. Chaired by Trustee Ross Fasick '55, this widely representative committee worked for 18 months to develop a set of broad strategic objectives designed to carry the college forward in the coming years. The committee held more than 20 meetings and sponsored several forums gathering opinions and ideas from more than 175 students, faculty members and other individuals. The report, objectives and recommendations that emerged from this effort are excellent. They are, however, truly less significant than the commitment the college is making to incorporate strategic planning into every decision and facet of our operations.

TOWARD 2001 Campaign: The following pages detail the status of the college's fund-raising efforts. It need only be said here how grateful and proud we are of the many donors, volunteers and staff who through their efforts and their generosity have brought the TOWARD 2001 Campaign within sight of its $21 million goal. We thank, too, the members of the Board of Trustees, the Executive Committee of the Faculty, the Alumni Council, the Parents'

Council, the Student Council and all those who serve on the many standing and ad hoc committees of the college's constituent boards and councils. Without the willingness of so many to share their time, talents and resources, the gains of the past several years simply would not have been possible.

The Year in Review

A symposium on China, a new art gallery and a "top 10" ranking were among the highlights in the college's 1994-95 year.

July 1994

15 Some 25 teachers from 15 area school districts spend their second week on campus in the summer institute of the Science Education Partnership for South Central Pennsylvania. The college earlier received a $560,498 grant from the National Science Foundation and $428,817 from the Whitaker Foundation to fund the project, which seeks to strengthen science teaching in grades K-8.

10 Over 70 junior and senior high school musicians from five states arrive for the Eighth Annual Summer Music Camp.

August

25 The college community and friends gather for a groundbreaking ceremony for the new $7 million library, the cornerstone of the TOWARD 2001 Campaign.

27 Some 308 new freshmen and 52 transfer students are welcomed at Opening Convocation. More than 1,754 full- and part-time students are enrolled as undergraduates and in the M.B.A program.

September

1 Nine Men on the Bench, Dr. Edna J. Carmean '59's book about the history of the Lebanon County court system, is launched.

18 The Suzanne H. Arnold Art Gallery season opens with "The Art of Treasure: Duke E. Long Memorial Exhibition."

16 Lebanon Valley makes the top 10 list in U.S. News & World Report's annual "America's Best Colleges" issue. The college is rated number five of the best regional liberal arts colleges in the North.

23 The Fifth Annual Achievement Challenge Golf Tournament raises $36,800 for the Lebanon Valley Education Partnership.

October

1 A group of faculty, administrators and trustees gather for a two-day session—the PEW Higher Education Roundtable—at Kreiderheim to look at challenges facing the college.

1 Dr. William J. McGill, dean and vice president, does the premiere of The Waters of Kronos, an original, one-man play by Dr. Arthur Ford '59, associate dean of international programs.

7 The renowned Turtle Island String Quartet performs in Miller Chapel.

21-22 Some 500 alumni return to campus for Homecoming Weekend.

25 Over 250 high school students chart their futures at Management Career Day.

27 A time capsule found in the cornerstone of the old library is opened; it contains papers dated between 1956 and 1957.

November

4 The Suzanne H. Arnold Art Gallery is dedicated during a ceremony and reception. The opening exhibit features Arthur Hall Smith's Japanese ink paintings.

9 The college community dons working clothes to plant some 20,000 flower bulbs.

13 Actor Max McLean presents Genesis: In the Beginning, a one-man play portraying the biblical account of creation.

December

1 The Kresge Foundation awards the college a $500,000 challenge grant designed to spur fund-raising for the new library.

4 An appreciative audience fills Miller Chapel for the annual Christmas at the Valley celebration of inspirational music and readings.

5 A four-person panel discusses "Society and its Weapons: The Nature and Morality of Modern Warfare."

8 The Auxiliary treats the college to Christmas International, a program featuring Lebanon Valley's students from many countries.

January 1995

14 An exhibit of the prints of Dox Thrash opens at The Suzanne H. Arnold Art Gallery.

22 Dr. Leslie King-Hammond, a foremost authority on African-American printmakers, lectures on "Expressions: African-Americans in Regional America."

22 The college's international film festival, Passion Plays, opens with Sirens.

23 The Leonardo Trio presents its 10th anniversary performance.

February

12 Dr. Donald Sutton of Carnegie Mellon University lectures on "The Art of Chinese Film" and The Story of Qiu Ju is screened as the opening event in the semester-long humanities colloquium, "China 2000: The Next Century."

14 The college's Science Education Partnership Program for South Central Pennsylvania is featured in the Whitaker Foundation's 1994 Annual Report.

21 E.H. Hess, president of Lancaster Laboratories, is keynote speaker at the 16th Annual Founders Day Convocation. The college honored Hess with the 1995 Founders Day Award.

March

9 The Whitaker Foundation awards the college a $316,817 grant for continued support of the Science Education Partnership for South Central Pennsylvania.

11 The best and brightest students from 68 high schools throughout south central and southeastern Pennsylvania lock horns in the 15th Annual Quiz Bowl.

14 Dr. Andrew Nathan, director of the East Asian Institute at Columbia University, presents the keynote address, "China in the 21st Century" for the "China 2000" colloquium.

Loyal Volunteers Made It a Special Year

Dear LVC Friends:

"People come first." Three words that set the stage for the TOWARD 2001 campaign also symbolize the success of Lebanon Valley College and the Advancement Program for the 1994-95 year.

People—their achievements and aspirations—gave Lebanon Valley another outstanding, and in many aspects, a record year in Alumni Programs, College Relations, Development and the TOWARD 2001 campaign.

The Alumni Council involved more people than ever before by reaching out to friends across the country. In 14 gatherings large and small, alumni and parents of students came to talk with faculty, council members and staff. The innovative, computerized Career Connection program—a cooperative effort among the Alumni Programs, Career Planning/Placement and Computer Services Offices, as well as the Parents Council—puts students in contact with over 800 alumni and parents who have volunteered to help our young people with career planning. And the second annual Alumni Hostel gave returning graduates a weeklong immersion in academe.

National recognition of Lebanon Valley and its people grew during the year through the College Relations program. In October 1994, the higher education issue of U.S. News & World Report placed the college among the top 10 regional liberal arts colleges in the North, citing its reputation, selectivity, faculty resources and alumni satisfaction. The college also received regional, statewide and national publicity for its people and programs, including articles in the Philadelphia Inquirer, U.S.A. Today, the Chronicle of Higher Education, the Chronicle of Philanthropy and Higher Education & National Affairs. Two college publications—the admissions viewbook and the information piece—received silver and bronze awards from CASE (the Council for Advancement and Support of Education), a national professional organization. Awards also came from the International Association of Business Communicators, the Public Relations Society of America and Women in Communications for The Valley magazine, admission publications and two public relations campaigns.

The office also played a key role in organizing "China 2000," the semester-long colloquium that brought a number of experts to campus, including the consul general of the People's Republic of China.

Perhaps one of the most meaningful ways in which people and organizations expressed their belief in Lebanon Valley College was through their voluntary support. Under capable volunteer leaders, private giving in 1994-95—$3,141,644 from 4,559 donors—was a record in both the amount and the number of gifts received. Including government grants, total support for the year was $3,782,456.

The Thomas Rhys Vickroy Society, recognizing leadership gifts to Lebanon Valley, again increased in membership. This devoted band of 339 good friends provided over $2.6 million in support, 84 percent of the total in this record year. My appreciation goes out to the people whose confidence and support led the Valley to new heights.

It was particularly gratifying to learn, in June, that Lebanon Valley was one of 10 liberal arts colleges with fewer than 10,000 alumni to win a national 1995 Circle of Excellence in Educational Fund Raising Award. The award program, sponsored by CASE, recognized growth in the college's development program over a three-year period. Heartiest congratulations to the development volunteers and staff.

The TOWARD 2001 Campaign ended its fourth year in fine style, building our confidence for success in this final year of activity. I am gratified to report that more than $6.5 million in new campaign commitments was recorded during the year, bringing the total to $20,942,795 by June 30, 1995.

In December, the college was awarded a $500,000 challenge grant from The Kresge Foundation of Troy, Michigan, on the condition that Lebanon Valley secure $2.1 million in new library commitments by December 1, 1995. We enter the fall semester with $1.8 million assured and plans in place to invite all alumni and friends to help reach the final goal.

Among the many campaign milestones this past year was the magnificent commitment of Vernon Bishop, who provided the gift to name the new Vernon and Doris Bishop Library. Mr. Bishop's gift will fund library construction and also the Vernon and Doris Bishop Distinguished Chair in Chemistry, Lebanon Valley's first fully endowed faculty chair.

TOWARD 2001 regional campaigns continued to meet with success. Volunteers participating in every one of the six completed campaigns—Lebanon Business, College Staff, Lebanon Community, Capital Region, Lancaster and Reading—encouraged each effort to exceed its goal. My heartiest congratulations and thanks to all involved.

People do come first, and people make it all happen. I'd like to extend special appreciation for the hard work of our loyal volunteer leaders:

- To John Schoch '72 and the members of the Alumni Council for their leadership, which has fostered increased alumni involvement.

- To Alumni Fund Chair Wes Dellinger '75, under whose direction alumni participation again surpassed 36 percent, placing Lebanon Valley among the leaders in the nation in alumni giving.

- To Tom Reinhart '58, chair of the TOWARD 2001 campaign, and to Edna '59 and Clark Carmean, who have to be the hardest-working co-chairs of any campaign.

- To our regional campaign chairs who have done themselves proud. Special thanks to Wendie DiMatteo Holsinger (Area Businesses), The Drs. Carmean (College Staff), to Libby Glick '58 (co-chair with me of the Lebanon Community), Gene Geesey '56 (Capital Region), Harry and Carol Smith Yost '62, '62 (Lancaster), Clair and Jeanne Winter Noll '55, '57 (Reading Area), and Steve and Janet Gessner Roberts '65, '68 (who are still actively working on the Greater Philadelphia area effort).

- Rev. and Mrs. M. Thomas Shatto '68, '68, P'92, P'96 for their leadership of the Parents Council; Peter '65 and Donna Stanilla for their work with the Parents Fund; Lee Glowacki for leading the Business Friends Fund; Len Schott for chairing the Friends Annual Fund; Professor Bryan Hearsey for heading the Faculty/Staff Fund; and Don Leshner for taking the Lebanon Valley Education Partnership golf tournament through its fifth successful year.

- To the dedicated Advancement staff in Laughlin Hall—Alumni Programs, College Relations and Development—I offer thanks for their professionalism and strong volunteer support.

People do come first. It's a guiding principle of Lebanon Valley College. With the help of those mentioned in this report, we will continue our work so that Lebanon Valley will remain a people-oriented college, worthy of your continued confidence.

The Thomas Rhys Vickroy Society 1994-95 Honor Roll

Alumni and other friends who are members of the Vickroy Society demonstrate outstanding leadership in support of Lebanon Valley College. Through the dedication of Vickroy Society members, the strength of Lebanon Valley College continues to grow. It is with heartfelt thanks that we list their names below. Membership in the Vickroy Society is open to alumni, parents of students, parents of graduates and other friends of the college on an annual basis, renewable each year. The Society recognizes gifts of $1,000 and above given to the college for any purpose during each academic year.

Active memberships are available in the following categories:

Trustee Associate: A gift of $10,000 and above
 Five Founders Circle: A gift of $5,000 to $10,000
 President's Circle: A gift of $2,500 to $5,000
 Society Associate: A gift of $1,000 to $2,500

Active membership may be fulfilled with gifts of cash, securities, real estate or other property.

Lifetime Vickroy Associates are members whose cumulative contributions to Lebanon Valley College total $100,000 and above. Annual Active and Lifetime Vickroy Society Memberships may be held concurrently.

Note: This Honor Roll recognizes Vickroy Society members whose gifts were made during the academic year July 1, 1994 through June 30, 1995, and includes both annual and capital gifts, as well as contributions to endowment.

National Music Officer

When the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association appointed Dr. George Curfman, associate professor of music, to be the state representative and higher education representative to the Executive Board, he saw it as an important opportunity for himself and the college. "It's imperative that we keep on top of what is happening in music education," he states. "Schools are faced with challenges that we must pay attention to." Among them, says Curfman, are a diversified student population and special needs students. Curfman, in his 34th year at Lebanon Valley, is responsible for the college's music education program. He has long been active in the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association, and his new appointment recognizes his expertise and the high esteem in which his PMEA colleagues hold him.

Merck Researchers Break Ground

Eight students and four faculty members from the biology and chemistry departments have been working on a variety of research projects funded under a $45,000 grant from Merck Chemical Company. The three-year grant supports undergraduate research projects involving a combination of biology and chemistry. One faculty-student team is looking at the protein changes that occur in plants during evolution, and has been using computer modeling to illustrate how this occurs. Another team is looking at juglone, a toxic compound, found in walnut leaves and hulls, that protects the trees and insects and prevents other plants from growing too close. A third team is using a new spectroscopy technique and chemometrics to distinguish one concentration of chemicals from another. The projects can all help advance understanding of plant pathology and also have application in developing medicine for humans and quality assurance and product purity.

Winner of Neidig Award

George Hollich '95 was the recipient of the H. Anthony Neidig Award, which recognizes a senior who achieves academically, makes a significant contribution to the college and shows concern for helping others. Hollich graduated summa cum laude with a bachelor's degree in psychology. During the summer of 1994, he worked with James McClelland, a world famous cognitive psychologist at Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, performing a computer research project to model the way in which the brain's neural networks process information.

Caring Student

Angie Koons '98 was named one of the 10 most caring young people in America by the Caring Institute in Washington, D.C. Koons was nominated by her high school in recognition of her work as a peer counselor and tutor; her key role in establishing a student-run teen contact line; and her involvement in Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD), Students Helping to Aid the Disabled (SHADE) and fund-raising efforts to fight Cystic Fibrosis. She received a National Caring Award from Senator John Glenn during a ceremony in the Dirksen Senate Office Building in Washington, D.C., along with a scholarship and a special certificate to attend U.S. Space Camp in Alabama.

Researching at Cornell

Lance Westerhoff '97, a biochemistry/applied computer science major, spent the summer at Cornell University working with Dr. Roger Spanswick, professor of plant science. Westerhoff, whose position was funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation, was working on a study involving membrane transport in plant cells.

"Art deals with things forever incapable of definition that belong to love, beauty, joy and worship; the shapes, powers and glory of which are forever building, unbuilding, rebuilding in each man's soul, and in the soul of the whole world."

Lebanon Valley Education Partnership

The Lebanon Valley Education Partnership is a program being carried out with the Lebanon School District that encourages young people to consider attending college. The three-part program familiarizes students with the college environment, identifies those qualified to pursue a college education and provides scholarship funds if they should choose Lebanon Valley.

Top Teachers

Honored at the May 13 Commencement exercises for excellence in teaching were Dr. David Lasky, professor of psychology emeritus, and Leonie Lang-Hambourg, adjunct assistant professor of German. Lasky, who retired at the close of the 1995 academic year after serving on the faculty for 21 years, received the Thomas Rhys Vickroy Award for Teaching. The award recognizes high standards of service to the college through classroom teaching, advising and active promotion of good teaching. Lang-Hambourg, who joined the college faculty in 1989, received the Nevelyn J. Knisley Award for Inspirational Teaching, an honor given to outstanding part-time and adjunct faculty members.

Each September for the past five years, friends of the college and representatives from local industries have participated in a golf outing at the Lebanon Country Club. The tournament has raised over $200,000 for scholarship assistance. The honorary chair each year has been Lebanon native Sam Bowie, center for the Los Angeles Lakers.

Musician/Scholar

Andrew Ashton '96 was named a Presser Scholar for his outstanding academic achievements. The award, presented by the Theodore Presser Foundation, is given annually to an upcoming senior music major with the highest cumulative grade point average. Ashton is pursuing a double major in music education and music with an emphasis in theory and composition. He believes his future plans will probably include relocating to Los Angeles, where he hopes to go into film and television composition.

Outstanding Athlete/Scholar

Joda Glossner '95 was awarded a $5,000 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship in recognition of her academic and athletic achievement. Glossner, who earned 12 letters as a member of the college's field hockey, women's basketball and softball teams, is the first Lebanon Valley student-athlete to achieve this prestigious honor from the NCAA. She has targeted the fall of 1996 as a starting point to begin a yearlong venture to pursue a master's degree in education with a specialization in intercultural communication. She plans to acquire a TESOL (Teaching English as a Second Language) certificate, and eventually to teach on the collegiate level.

Planned Giving

The Honors Society

The Honors Society of Lebanon Valley College was established on March 15, 1987, to recognize alumni and friends who have planned for the future by naming the college in their will as a beneficiary for $10,000 or more, or by purchasing a charitable gift annuity, establishing a charitable remainder trust or giving real estate or insurance policies to the college. This group has pledged over $5,000,000 for future buildings, scholarships and endowment to assure the well-being of Lebanon Valley College.
